SENIOR PRODUCT DESIGNER (AIR) — AMSTERDAM, NETHERLANDS

Dear JetBrains Hiring Team,

I'm applying for the Senior Product Designer role on AIR, your agentic development environment. The problem you're solving — giving developers a place where AI agents run real work in parallel while people stay in control — is one of the most interesting interaction-design challenges in software right now. Designing clear, trustworthy interfaces for autonomous agents is exactly where I want to spend the next phase of my career, and JetBrains is the team I'd most want to do it with.

For the last two years at SnappTrip I've been the Senior Product Designer behind complex, data-dense consumer interfaces, working end to end with Product Managers, Engineering Managers and Data Analysts. The work that maps most directly to AIR: I rebuilt filter and discovery UX for dense result sets and drove a 3X increase in filter conversion, and I ran structured A/B tests that delivered a 10% conversion uplift through disciplined, hypothesis-led iteration. Just as relevant, I embedded AI deeply into my own practice — research synthesis, UX writing, prototyping and documentation — so I understand both sides of the problem: designing AI-powered products and designing for people who work alongside AI.

Amsterdam has long been where I'd most like to be based, and JetBrains is a large part of that. I'm Tehran-based and fully ready to relocate; I'd qualify for the Netherlands Highly Skilled Migrant route and would welcome JetBrains' relocation support to make the move smooth. Open to on-site from day one.

I'd love to walk you through my interaction and AI-workflow work in more detail. Thank you for your time.

Warm regards,

Farzaneh Abasnezhadford
